

THE TRAVELER
Heeding the storm, we shut the cabin tight.
Then in the wind and rain, we heard a shout
And drew the door that barred a traveler out,
Asking no questions, waving him the right
To enter and have shelter for the night.
And he would ask a bed, we had no doubt.
Yet there he stood still in the storm's wild rout,
Cupping a pipe, and only asked a light.
Whither he went, and why, there was no sign,
Except one found it in his smiling eyes.
Dripping and tall, his slicker all a-shine,
Blown off some course the lonely eagle flies.
Then, match to pipe, he left our fire and wine
Like one who loves the thunder of the skies.

Southern cotton farmers are facing disaster in 1930 according to Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board, who has issued a timely warning asking a drastic cut in the acreage. This statement is printed in The Herald today and should be read by every farmer in this section. Already the larger planters of the county have set the example for curtailment of acreage by signing agreements to reduce their plantings from 15 to 20 per cent. The question of reduced acreage has been with us each year but in the aggregate has been followed to an extent insufficient to make an appreciable showing in the prices paid from year to year.

Farm leadership thus far has failed to bring out of the struggle of years any worthwhile plan for improving the condition of the cotton farmer. Plainly this problem is up to the planter. He cannot hope for a way out of his difficulties as long as he disregards the fundamental economic law of supply and demand which governs the price of every commodity. This law is as old as labor. It is inevitable and cannot be defeated. The result has been that farmers raising whatever product they market, have run afoul of this principle of production and it has been a long and discouraging trail of progress. In fact the cotton farmer faces a situation today more serious than at any time in the history of his business.

What we may be able to do in this community in the way of restricting acreage will not affect the price of cotton, but what the farmers do over the entire cotton area will make an impression and the movement must be area wide and consistent over a period of years. It is the only way. At present the commercial outlook offers no appreciable increase in demand for cotton. To produce another big crop and add its surplus or carry over to the present surplus means but one thing and that is a collapse of the cotton growing industry. Already enfeebled by the consistent year in and year out policy of over production, the farmers must restrict their production or submit to failure and yield up their farms in despair. This is plain talk but the time has come for plain talking. Farm income has had but one source in the past. That source of income has been cotton. The result is that we raise more cotton than the world can consume and as long as the supply of any commodity is in excess of the demand prices will be low. Leadership has defaulted because it has advocated only artificial means of defeating over production. There is only one way to defeat overproduction and that way is not to produce.

We have heard the doctrine of gradual marketing preached; we have heard stabilization which is the same thing in another form; we have heard improved staple and classification; we have heard tales of industrial expansion offering a consumption of increased cotton production; we have heard the cotton buyers and the speculators abused for ruinous prices and we have heard the cry of low average acreage yield and out of that has grown a lot of advice about soil conservation and crop rotation and all of that and it is good so far as it goes. But one thing remains to control the price. That thing is the law of supply and demand. When cotton farmers produce eighteen million bales and sell ten million bales, the price is in no way increased for as long as this cotton is in sight it counts against the price. When there is plenty of cotton it is cheap; when

The Gulf Refining Company has purchased the Mrs. L. H. Posey home site east of the First Baptist church property for $10,000 and will erect a modern service station within a short time.

The old Posey home is being wrecked to make way for the Gulf station which is to be modern in every way. The Gulf Company has been anxious for this valuable building site for a number of years and the price paid is a significant trend in real estate values for that section of Cameron. ## Society Agog as Widow Zander Captures Rich Benjamin Gump; To Marry in Cameron March 6

Are you interested in seeing the Widow Zander, of comic strip fame, marry Benjamin Gump, the multimillionaire, and thereby rid herself of all the worry connected with a recent loan at 40 per cent interest which she made from Simon S. ## Rosebud Citizens Are Now Burning Milam County Gas

The city of Rosebud is now being served with natural gas from Milam county gas wells in what is known as the White field, three miles south of Rosebud and about the same distance east of Burlington. There are three of these wells, owned by the Milam Oil & Gas Co., Inc., the product from which is sold to the Lone Star Gas Company, which has the franchise to supply Rosebud. It is stated that the contract between the two companies calls for a minimum price of ten cents.

The owning company is said to be now drilling two additional wells in the field. The original wells were drilled in the early part of 1928, and are approximately 1500 feet in depth producing from 500,000 to 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day per well, with a rock pressure of 560 pounds. These wells were drilled by J. C. and J. H. White on the W. B. White land, part of a block of 5000 or 6000 acres under lease.

It is estimated that Rosebud is now using between 500,000 and 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The gas was turned into the mains and service begun on February 12.—Rosebud News.

World Court Is Club Topic

Each member of the Cameron History Club was privileged to invite a guest to attend the regular meeting of the Club Tuesday afternoon of this week, at which time the Hon. W. G. Gillis delivered an address on the World Court of Justice. It was a most interesting occasion, and the address was educational and informative. Judge Gillis first gave a history of the formation of the World Court, and he concluded with a criticism of the United States for 'wanting to have her cake and eat it too;' in his opinion we are trying to receive the benefits of a member of the Court without definitely becoming a member, and thereby being ready for any good that may come of not being a member.

Following his address, Miss Mary Lake Henderson, who was in charge of the program for the afternoon, told of a session of the World Court which she attended during a recent trip abroad. A motion was made and seconded that the History Club send letters to our representative and to the Texas senators at Washington asking them to lend their support towards having the United States become a member of the World Court. The secretary was instructed to write these notes.

Mrs. Royal P. Jeter and Mrs. Ben Atkinson were joint hostesses for the afternoon and the meeting was held at the home of the latter. Numerous spring flowers lent charm to the reception rooms. A social hour was enjoyed after the program, the guests being invited to the dining room where they were served pineapple ice and cake. The dining room made a pretty picture with its Irish lace cover, its center piece of yellow daffodils in a crystal bowl, and its yellow tapers in crystal holders at the four corners. Misses Louise Atkinson and Artie Graves assisted in serving.

Southern Cotton States Are Facing Another 1926 Calamity

Warning Is Issued by Carl Williams, Member of the Federal Farm Loan Board

In a formal address by Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board, the following statements were made, which are of the greatest importance to the cotton growers and their friends throughout the entire South:

'Dixie farmers face the prospect in 1930 of no governmental aid of effective character unless immediate steps are taken to reduce the yield of cotton.'

'The United States cotton crop is gradually going down in quality while the foreign crop has been slowly increasing in quality,' he told the agriculturists.

'These are facts that the South must face, there is no argument, no necessary discussion, all the talk in the world won't change it,' the speaker emphatically declared. 'The farmer must move up a year in his calculations and think of his prospective prices, abandoning the old system of shaping a crop on the basis of last year's prices.'

'The acreage of cotton is now above the red line on the motorometer. Last year 47,000,000 acres were planted in cotton; 46,000,000 acres were harvested. That's too much.'

'The red line is 40,000,000 acres. If the cotton belt goes above that there is a possibility of ruining the auto,' the Oklahoman declared.

'Had the yield of the acreage planted in 1929 been as good as that of 1914 the cotton belt would have produced 22,000,000 bales last year.'

'During the last three years

the yield per acre of cotton has been below a ten-year average. This has never been true four years in succession.

'If the Federal Farm Board is going to be able to be of the greatest possible service to the cotton farmer, it must not have to deal with an unwieldy surplus.'

'It is easier to prevent than to control a surplus. What the board does this year will be governed largely by what the farmer does at planting time.'

Mr. Williams made what he described as 'two practical suggestions' to the South:

'1. That no banker finance for production credit, nor merchant credit, nor landlord permit, nor farmer dare to plant any cotton on any land until he has assured a food crop for his family and a feed crop for his stock.'

'2. That no cotton be planted on any land which on a five-year average has failed to return a net profit.'

'Fully one-third of the acreage planted this year has failed to return a net profit.'

'Some cotton farmers think that because the Federal Farm Board has been lending to co-operatives at an average of 16 cents a pound on middling 7-8 inch staple of the 1929 crop, the board means to see to it that the price will be at least that much for the crop of 1930.'

'This is not so. The Federal Farm Board can not protect farmers when they deliberately overplant. What the board will do to help in market next year's crop will depend upon what farmers do at planting time.'

Kentucky Lady Was Weak And Felt Miserable. Dizzy Spells Quit After She Took Cardui.

Danville, Ky.—"For a long time, I suffered with severe headaches and pains in my sides and back," says Mrs. Lottie Smallwood, residing at 116 Fourth Street, this city.

"I was very weak, and just not able to go about or do my work. I just felt miserable.

"I was all out of heart. I would have spells when my head would hum, and my feet and hands were clammy and cold.

"I would be so dizzy, I would fall. "I had read of Cardui, and what it had done for others, and so I, too, began taking it. I had been aching and hurting awfully.

"After I took Cardui, I quit having the dizzy spells. I kept on taking Cardui, and saw then that I was being helped. I was not nearly so weak, and from that time I have felt better. I took six bottles in all." Cardui is a purely vegetable remedy and contains nothing harmful or injurious. It may be safely taken by a delicate young girl as well as by a feeble old lady.

Cardui has been in use by women for over 50 years, and great numbers of women have reported that it helped them back to health.

OUR TOWN

There is a shortage it is high. That cannot be denied. Now the thing for the farmers to do is to restrict their acreage and to produce less cotton. Plant more feed. Put the old farm in other lines of business, raise meat supplies, chickens, have cows and something to eat. Cotton cannot be used for food nor will it buy food sufficient because it is not worth anything.

The average producer of cotton does not keep in touch with the price as he should. Middling cotton today is selling below fourteen and a half cents. That means perhaps the average price would be around twelve. Low grade or stained cotton here this week sold for 10 cents. If the farmers produce another big crop in 1930 the price will be below 10 cents or thereabout basis, unless some miracle should come in the complex economic structure of the world to make an abnormal demand, but we are not looking for another war or so rapid an expansion of cotton consuming industries. The thing to do is reduce the acreage and raise less of it and do that consistently over a period of years then keep on doing it. This movement is wide spread over the area. Milam county farmers will join in. They will raise more feed stuff and have more live stock, poultry, and butter and milk. That is the only way out. Let's try it for a few years. It can't be worse and it is sure to help some. Whenever we produce cotton short of or even approximately the ratio of demand we will be a prosperous and a happy people.

During the business session preceding the program, a report was heard from the committee on arranging for an observance of National Music Week in May. Mrs. A. ## Yoemen Play First Game Of Baseball

Tuesday afternoon the Yoemen played a practice game with Maysfield. Maysfield's team was not a high school team, however the Yoemen put up a determined fight, but came out in the little end of an 8 and 7 score. It was the Yoemen's first game this season and a number of spots were discovered that will need smoothing out.

'Bubba' McDermott got the first hit of the season for the Yoemen, a screaming double to left field in the second inning. He later scored on Lawson's single through second. Doug Williams, lead-off man, scored the first Yoemen run after he had drawn a walk in the first inning.

Lawson and Worcester did the pitching for the Yoemen. Both lacked control at times but each one got several strike outs to his credit.

For the visitors Archie Peel, a cousin of Homer Peel, was the outstanding player. Besides turning in a creditable game on the mound, he got a triple and three singles in five trips to the plate. He would have gotten a double in his last time up but for the great catch made by Texas Miller in center field, who turned a long hit into an out.

In the last inning of Tuesday's game the first four men up scored with only one hit being made. Bases on balls, errors and Prothro Deer's single accounting for the scores.

Captain Smith, an unusually good fielder, had hard luck yesterday, making two errors in left field. That is not his regular style however, and we are sure that he will not let that happen again.

'Steam' Wiley's hand has healed so that he was able to catch in Tuesday's game.

Girlhood

The trying time in a young girl's life is reached when Nature leads her uncertain steps across the line which divides girlhood and womanhood. Neglect at this critical period is largely responsible for much of the misery of women. Often there is need of some safe, strengthening tonic to overcome the languor, nervousness and distress girls commonly experience at this time. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite and helps the entire womanly organism. It is purely herbal—contains no narcotic, nor any harmful ingredient. Druggists. Tablets or liquid. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c if you desire a trial pkg. of tablets.

Florence, Ala.—"For two years, I suffered with pains in my back and head," writes Mrs. J. E. Sloan, 810 Park Street, this city. "I felt dull all the time, and was not able to do anything. I was constipated most of the time. My complexion was bad and I had no appetite. An old lady advised my father to give me Black-Draught. As quick as she told him, he got it for me. I took Black-Draught three times a day for three weeks, and I began to feel like a different person. I developed a good appetite; the poison left my system, and I felt fine. I thought my trouble came from constipation, and as soon as the cause was removed, I got all right. Since that time, I have tried to keep a box of Black-Draught in the house, as I find it corrects biliousness and relieves sick headache. It is our family medicine."

Constipation damps up poisons in the bowels, causing their bad effects to be felt in other parts of the body. At the first sign of constipation, take Theodor's Black-Draught. Costs only 1 cent a dose. NC-215

Texas And Texans

By Will H. Mayo

Assets or Liabilities

One doesn't have to be a close observer, if he travels over Texas a bit, to discover that every town's best asset is good all-weather roads leading in every direction—not merely out a few miles into impassable mud tracks but good roads through to the next good town. Travellers and home seekers invariably think and speak of a place, and in no uncertain way, in terms of its roads. People who are worth having as citizens seldom locate in a community with poor roads. Those who live there were there before life depended so much on road conditions, and they stay largely because they are 'stuck' and can't get away, or else in the hope that in the course of time they may have better roads.

Want Good Hotels

A town or its surrounding community may be ever so good, but it is hard to overcome the impression a poor room in a poor hotel makes on a traveler. A hotel a quarter of a century behind the times creates the impression that the place is just that much behind, and few people seeking a new location care to establish homes among neighbors content to live among conditions that were satisfactory twenty-five years ago. Modern folks with modern ideas do not care to return to the 'good old days,' good enough, perhaps for old folks to dream about, but not good enough for younger people to live in, even for an overnight stay in a hotel.

Quarantine The Grouchers

Every town has a few grouchers—fellows who see no good in anything or anybody, who are not progressive themselves, who oppose all progress and who meet every suggestion for improvement with 'Well, we've always done so and so. They are content with staying in a rut just because it is a fixed habit. It is a pity they can't be quarantined, like people with smallpox. At any rate, they shouldn't be allowed to meet strangers. One grouch can offset all the 'Welcome' sign that can surround a town.

Talking Prosperity

The other day a newspaper man said, 'Times are getting hard, and expenses must be kept down.' When asked how his business was in 1929, he said, 'Much better than the year before.' He even admitted that his January business was the best he had ever had in that month, but based his hard times talk on the idea that the Wall Street collapse of last year was 'bound to reach Texas in time,' though it hadn't been felt yet in this State. There are a few folks who haven't recovered from the World-War fright. Talking 'hard times' persistently will create business panics. The newspaper man who isn't progressive can hardly expect progressiveness on the part of his patrons. Times are good. We only need to bring our vision up-to-date. Talk prosperity if you would be prosperous.

Where They Talk It

While there are many sections in Texas from which one never hears a hard-times wail, it is difficult to find anywhere a more up-and-going district than the lower Colorado river valley section around Eagle Lake, El Campo, Wharton and Bay City, where there has been wonderful development in the last few years. The thrifty cities tell plainly of the prosperity of the country and the country shows the substantial background upon which the cities are building. They have not gone forward without a struggle, but the combination of irrigation, drainage, good roads and progressive citizenry has accomplished wonders and will bring still greater achievements.

Rice and Potatoes

The rice crop of the lower Colorado valley was good last season and was sold at a satisfactory price. Other crops did well, and agriculture there is not dependent on cotton. Around Eagle Lake 3000 acres have been planted to early Irish potatoes and about an equal number about Bay City, El Campo and Wharton. All indications are that early potatoes will bring good prices and that the growers will prosper.

Fire on January 23 damaged goods in our store and we are passing these bargains on to our friends and customers. It is unfortunate that in cases of fire actual damage to goods is not always sufficient to justify the sacrifices merchants have to make in disposing of merchandise affected by fire and water. A Fire Sale therefore is always the greatest bargain event of the year. We have a considerable quantity of goods, principally in ready-to-wear merchandise damaged in the fire at our store on the above date. We are sacrificing them in order to dispose of them and now is your opportunity to buy these goods. While we are pricing these damaged goods in this Fire Sale we are taking this opportunity to offer other and additional bargains. This sale is to be an event in value giving for which this store is famous, so come at once. Be here on Friday morning, February 28 when we open the doors to this great feast of bargains.

In this circular the space is so limited that I cannot detail every item in this store. There are literally hundreds of savings here. You know my policy has always been to make my sales store wide and to price my goods at prices that speak for themselves. This is not a sale like many you see. This sale is on the level and my reasons are good and sufficient. I need the ready cash and I must reduce some lines of goods. The new things for Spring are included in this sale. Many new Dresses, Coats, Hats, Shoes and the like have just come in to my store. I would not give a sale without including everything, for when you come into this store you can buy as you please. This is my greatest sale. The prices and the goods prove it.

The total average was 46 6-11, so we have a great deal of room for improvement. Miss Bartholomew helped the girls cut their garments and gave them instructions for finishing them. ## CRUEL NEURITIS FINDS ITS FOE IN NEW KONJOLA

HAPPY LADY ENTHUSIASTIC IN PRAISE OF FAMED NEW MEDICINE

'No words can describe what this great medicine, Konjola, has done for me,' said Mrs. Harry A. Unrath, 914 Lark Avenue, St. Louis. 'Five bottles of this marvelous remedy put an end to a case of neuritis that I had despaired of ever shaking off. The pain settled in my forearm and fingers and for days at a time I was helpless from the frightful agony and could not move my hands. My kidneys were weak and added to my intolerable misery.

'The first bottle of Konjola indicated what could be expected. I continued the treatment for five weeks and my health troubles were at an end. Every vestige of pain had left my arms and fingers, there is no swelling and no stiffness in either. My kidneys responded weeks before and no back pains or dizziness occur. It is difficult, even now, to realize that one medicine could do all that Konjola did for me.'

Konjola is sold in Cameron at the George A. Thomas & Sons Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Big Firms Like To Employ Teachers

'Over a period of several years we have found that teachers who enter business achieve success well above the average,' stated W. M. Roberts, President of Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration. Few men in the Southwest are in as good a position to observe matters of this kind as Mr. Roberts, who places hundreds of graduates of the famous Tyler institution in business positions each year.

'Because of their splendid literary qualifications, teachers do excellent work at this school. They make very satisfactory passing grades and finish their courses, as a general rule, quicker than the average student. They know the value of their time, they know what it means to apply their time to their studies and as a result they are excellent students. We are consequently able to recommend them more highly, both because of their good work here and because of the superior training they have had before they enroll at Tyler Commercial College.'

'We are not only able to place them in business positions promptly, but they command better positions and are usually a great credit to our school.'

The profession of teaching is one of the highest professions in the world from the standpoint of service to humanity. It is unfortunately, however, an occupation of many draw backs, and there are teachers all over the Southwest today who can and should improve their own conditions materially. To them the business world offers a broad and rich field. For them there is no road to bigger success than one of the thirty-nine different courses offered by Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration.

T. C. C. publishes a booklet entitled 'Achieving Success in Business,' the pages of which are crowded with inspiration and practical information. It tells many stories of success and describes fully the courses offered by this big college. The book is free and will be gladly sent to any school teacher, or anyone else who is seeking a broader career. Just clip the coupon below and mail it today.

Following the games, the hostess covered the tables with white tarlatan runners and served a chicken salad course with eclairs, a George Washington salad, in which were stuck tiny hatchets as plate favors and iced punch. Table favors were boxes of chocolate covered cherries.

A Ferocious Dog

When the Myers lived by the Jacksons their dog was the terror of left-handed batters, or of slow-hitting right-handed hitters. There was a great deal of baseball playing in Jackson's yard and one of the humorous instances I particularly remember is as follows:

'Dubb' Shipp hit the ball into the Myers' yard and made a home run on it. According to our rule 'Dubb' had to go into the yard and get the ball. He slowly climbed the fence and tipped softly toward the ball. The dog was under the house and 'Dubb' thought maybe he could get out before the dog was any wiser. As he picked the ball up a white streak shot out from under the house. 'Dubb' beat it for the fence which was about five feet high. He caught the top of the fence, turned a flip above it, and landed safely.

Roy Baskin.

An Adventure In The Dark

One day in dreary December, Dick, Jack and I having heard of a certain house being haunted set out for an adventure. With a few supplies we started out expecting to stay all night. It was late evening when we reached the place; and clouds were gathering in the sky.

We went up on the porch and just then we heard a rustling inside. We picked up our supplies that we had dropped, and paraded in the front door single-file, so if the ghost got one of us the other two would get him. We could see spooks floating about everywhere.

Having lighted a few of the candles which we had brought we built a fire and cooked our supper. After supper while we were sitting around the fire, a door blew open and our lights went out.

I raised up and said, 'Dick, go and close that door.'

'Why don't you?' was the reply.

Then I said, 'We had better get out while the getting is good.'

Clayton Sapp.

Trusting A Stranger

An old man who carried a suit case entered a garage late one evening. He seemed down and out as he approached the mechanic. He said he was trying to get to a certain section of the country where there was a building boom. He was broke but he could bum his way along; he did not have money to buy food. The mechanic felt sorry for the old man, so he gave him five dollars. He never expected to see his money again.

A few weeks later the mechanic received a letter from out of the state. In the letter was five dollars and a note from the old man thanking him for the money.

Addie Mae Lunsford.

An Adventure In The Dark

I lived in the country and was going into town to see the picture show. I lived about five miles out and when about half of the way to town I had to detour because of the recent rains.

As I was going down the muddy road it started to drizzle. First it came slowly and then harder the rain came. Finally I knew that I would have to find shelter. Just then thru the rain I saw a house on a knoll. I started toward it. There was no light in the house and I could hardly see. Then I started to think of ghosts and phantoms and things. I was on a little bay pony so I just opened the door and rode in. It was just a one-room cabin. In the far end I heard something scuttling around. I got off my pony and lit a match. I could see nothing so I started to the fire place to make a fire. As I was bending over I heard a rush of feet behind me. I tried to get up but was not fast enough. Then

WORLD PRAYER DAY BY FEDERATION OF MISSIONARY SOCIETIES HERE MARCH 7

The World's Day of Prayer is to be observed by the Federation of Missionary Societies of Cameron at the Baptist church Friday afternoon, March 7, at three-thirty o'clock. This observance is being held in commemoration of the first Pentecost and will be devoted to asking for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit today even as there was on that other occasion.

The program for the Week of Prayer that was to have been held by the ladies of the Baptist church on this same afternoon has been cancelled in order that they might join in the larger observance.

SPRINGTIME MOTIF FOR MONDAY NIGHT BRIDGE WITH MRS. C. NABOURS

A springtime motif was used by Mrs. Charlie Nabours when she entertained members of the Monday Night Bridge Club at her home this week. Peach and plum blossoms and violets, both tame and wild, furnished house decorations and tallies and score pads were in pastel colors having a central butterfly design.

Miss Dulcie McCall made high score and Mrs. Penn Wolf was second high. Mrs. W. R. Hoover was low.

Following the games, the hostess served pink and green brick cream and cake squares iced in white and decorated with pink and green sponge. The green trays used for the service were centered with novelty twine holders which went as table favors to Mrs. Conn Moody, Mrs. W. D. Bigbee and Miss Dulcie McCall. Mrs. W. R. Hoover was the only guest outside the club membership.

'Sella' by William Cullen Bryant was the poem we studied last week. We all enjoyed it very much. Descriptions of Sella, The Brook, and Her Home were written after studying the poem.

Sella's Home

Sella's home was situated by a running brook. From one of its windows, Sella could gaze upon the brook and its banks. Around the house there were broad pastures with herds and flocks in them. It was a rustic lodge overlooking the plains around.

The house itself had a very wide porch and around it were orchards of lovely fruits. It was said, 'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a brook scudding along a narrow channel,' and 'Then Sella hung the slippers on the porch of that broad, rustic lodge.'

Sella's family was not rich so their home was made of logs. They had few furnishings, just some couches on which to sleep, lattices instead of curtains and some canisters in which to put flowers. 'And then again I clambered up the violets' murmuring path, until we came beside this cottage door.'

Giles Avriett.

The Brook

'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a brook. This was a beautiful brooklet, paved with green and yellow pebbles and scudding along a narrow channel, with waters colorless and cool and the best water to drink in the world. The water made a sweet and eternal murmur and 'she gathered violets from its moist bank.' Sella loved this 'woodland streamlet' and she loved 'to wander where wild vines o'erhang the river's brim; to climb the path of the woodland streamlet to its mountain springs.'

William Slaughter.

The Streamlet

Beside a pleasant dwelling near Sella's home there was a brook. It was flowing along in a narrow channel. It was paved with yellow and green pebbles, yet its waters were colorless and cool.

'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a brook scudding along a narrow channel, paved With green and yellow pebbles, yet full Clear its waters were, and colorless and cool.'

As it flowed along it made a sweet, eternal murmur that Sella loved so much to hear. 'A maiden oft stood at the window Leaning out, and listening to the Sound the water made. A sweet eternal murmur, still the same and not the same.'

It's shores were fresh and moist and on them there grew flowers and herbs of all kind, especially violets and Sella would wonder along her shores picking them. Sometimes Sella would come down to the brook and sit in the shade of a great rock and listen to its sweet song for hours and hours.

'She gathered violets from its fresh Moist bank, to pace within her bower And when the herbs of summer drooped Beneath the mid-day sun, she sat within The shade of a great rock, dreamily listening To the streamlets song.'

Dallas Criswell.

Sella's Home

Her house was a pleasant dwelling. 'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a beautiful little brook.' Sella was often seen to gaze out the open window of her home at the broad pastures grazed by flocks and herds and the lofty hills. After she found the slippers, 'Then Sella hung the slippers in the porch of that broad rustic lodge.' When Sella lost her slippers she mourned by the lattice windows of her mountain home, looking out from the cottage on the surrounding scene.

Roy Baskin.

Sella

A fair young lady sat in the shade of a great rock listening to the song of a small streamlet. Her calm, clear blue eyes sparkled with venturesome spirit and her long yellow hair waved in the wind.

'Ripe were the maiden's years, her stature showed womanly beauty, and her clear, calm eye was bright with venturesome spirit.'

Her face looked very pale and there was no color in her lips.

'Yet her face her passionless, like those by sculptor graven.'

She cared nothing for love, she had rather wander in the woods or row her boat.

'Often did the banks of river or sylvan lakelet hear the dip of oars which the maiden rowed.'

Sella had a tender heart, but a very high temper. In her later life she taught the world many useful things.

Dallas Criswell.

Friday, Feb. 14 the seventh grade enjoyed a Valentine party in the home room. Games were played and apples and candy were eaten. Original Valentines were written and the winners were Giles, Ralph and Dick Clyde and Eldridge were blindfolded and told to waltz. 'Lightning' in his graceful manner waltzed around the room. Eldridge had to smile at each person and he did.

We have planted nasturtiums, poppies, old maids and pansies.

The boys and girls have started playing ball and each day interesting games are played.

Declamation tryouts will be soon and we are planning to win. So we are planning to win in the spelling and arithmetic contests.

Our attendance is better now and we hope to keep it so.

Howard Terry is ill today. He sprained his ankle and can not walk. We miss him.

The Rhodora

The Rhodora grows in the woods in a damp place, or in wet nook. It grows in the month of May. The peculiar thing about the Rhodora is that the flower blossoms before the leaves appear. The color of the Rhodora is a beautiful purple.

Joseph Miller was absent Monday.

Wilder combs his hair every morning.

Caralyn was absent last week. She is back with us today.

Roy doesn't like to argue anymore.

Tom tore his shirt last Thursday and had to wear his sweater all the rest of the day.

The poem 'Rhodora' was read, then we wrote descriptions of the flower.

The Rhodora

The Rhodora is a flower of May. In damp places or along sluggish brooks this flower is found. Also along pools it is found with its petals on the water. The Rhodora is a purple flower with long purple petals. No leaves has this flower. It is a flower of about the same rank as the rose, but it is not as well known.

FARMERS SIGN FOR CUT COTTON ACREAGE

PERCENTAGES RANGE FROM 15 TO 20 PER CENT AMONG LARGE PLANTERS

A movement to reduce cotton acreage in Milam County has taken definite form with the circulation of a petition here signed by large planters and smaller farmers. The agreed reduction ranges from 15 to 20 per cent. The petition follows:

We, the undersigned farmers, living in Cameron Trade Territory, pledge ourselves to reduce the acreage we are to plant in cotton for the year 1930 as compared with our 1929 acreage, in the amounts placed opposite our names, in conformity with the request of the Federal Farm Board and of many other civic and business organizations. We believe that by so doing we can contribute to a practical check on overproduction and thus hold the price at a living level.

Luncheon Served For History Club Members Here

The annual luncheon for members of the Cameron History Club was an event of Saturday, with Mrs. Tom Denson offering her home for the affair. The fact that the day was February 22 made the patriotic decorations all the more significant. The large dining table, at which places were laid for sixteen, was covered with red, white and blue squares of crepe paper, and there were dotted here and there with Gorge Washington emblems. A cherry tree rested on a reflector in the center of the table and on each side of it were hatchets stuck in George Washington nut cups.

The menu consisted of grape fruit cocktail topped with a red cherry, baked country ham, stuffed Irish potato, candied apple, pickle, rolled sandwiches tied with tri-color ribbon, asparagus and tomato salad, hot rolls, coffee, and individual cherry pies topped with whipped cream. Serving on the refreshment committee were Mrs. T. S. Henderson, chairman, Mrs. Joe Denson and Mrs. E. A. Wallace.

During the course of the luncheon games and contests were enjoyed un-

METHODIST CHURCH

At the evening service next Sunday (7:30) the subject of the sermon will be: 'How God Shows His Love.' We invite those who are disposed to be cynical, those who doubt that the great First Cause is primarily and essentially a God of Love, as well as those who are trying to learn the lesson that God is love in spite and in the face of losses and disappointments and sufferings. We invite all who will to come and worship with us next Sunday.

Our Sunday school begins promptly at 9:45 a. m., the morning service at 11 a. m., and the Epworth League at 6:30 p. m. Splendid music led by Mrs. A. J. Triggs, choir leader, Mrs. J. L. Clinton, at the organ and a choir which always pleases the lovers of good music. Let the people who live in the country and who have no church home in their community come and worship with us. Yes, let the people of Milam county 'form the habit' of going to church regularly and thus set a good example for our youth. Righteousness exalts a nation; where else do our people learn the great principles of righteousness unless they are announced from time to time from the pulpits of the land? The Soviets of Russia are trying the terrible experiment of closing the churches and persecuting the Jews and Christians; they will learn in due time that God can not be mocked and that they are 'hatching adder's eggs,—he that eats of their eggs dies and that which is crushed breaks out into a viper.' Isaiah 59, 5.)

Let our people go to church and Sunday school.

C. A. LEHMBERG, Pastor.

der the direction of Mrs. Jeff Kemp, Mrs. R. P. Jeter and Misses Mary Lake and Winnie Henderson, who were on the entertainment committee.

In the living room of the Denson home a variety of early flowers including hyacinths, cyclamen, primroses, narcissus, japonica and jonquils gave accent to the spring weather.

A large number of members of the Congregational church will attend the services. Approximately one-half of the audience at the Congregational church services addressed by Dr. Goodman were members of Temple B'Nai Israel.

Responding to invitations received by mail, members of the Homemakers Class of the Baptist Sunday school officers of the Sunday school who are eligible for membership in the class and a few prospective members gathered at the church annex Friday evening in 'tacky' costume for a few hours of fun. The guests were entertained first with a short program of readings given by Mrs. Dan Gunn, Martha Frances Brogdon and Johnnie Mae Hays.

The feature entertainment was a spelling match, in which the guests assumed the roles of backwoods children at school, with Mrs. Wilson Gunn, possessor of a third grade certificate, as the teacher. The customary program was given on 'Friday afternoon' for the trustees of the school who were Messrs. L. C. Gayle, John Hays and Joe Bass, and they voted on the prettiest child in the room. This distinction went to Mrs. J. C. Mayfield with the teacher Mrs. Wilson Gunn, getting second place.

A candy snatching contest and one in which February 22 was the inspiring motif were other diversions. Guests were served a salad course and hot tea. Mrs. Wm. Henderson is teacher of the Homemakers class and Mrs. John Hays is president.

THE TRAVELER
Heeding the storm, we shut the cabin tight.
Then in the wind and rain, we heard a shout
And drew the door that barred a traveler out,
Asking no questions, waving him the right
To enter and have shelter for the night.
And he would ask a bed, we had no doubt.
Yet there he stood still in the storm's wild rout,
Cupping a pipe, and only asked a light.
Whither he went, and why, there was no sign,
Except one found it in his smiling eyes.
Dripping and tall, his slicker all a-shine,
Blown off some course the lonely eagle flies.
Then, match to pipe, he left our fire and wine
Like one who loves the thunder of the skies.

—Lowe W. Wren.

Southern cotton farmers are facing disaster in 1930 according to Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board, who has issued a timely warning asking a drastic cut in the acreage. This statement is printed in The Herald today and should be read by every farmer in this section. Already the larger planters of the county have set the example for curtailment of acreage by signing agreements to reduce their plantings from 15 to 20 per cent. The question of reduced acreage has been with us each year but in the aggregate has been followed to an extent insufficient to make an appreciable showing in the prices paid from year to year.

Farm leadership thus far has failed to bring out of the struggle of years any worthwhile plan for improving the condition of the cotton farmer. Plainly this problem is up to the planter. He cannot hope for a way out of his difficulties as long as he disregards the fundamental economic law of supply and demand which governs the price of every commodity. This law is as old as labor. It is inevitable and cannot be defeated. The result has been that farmers raising whatever product they market, have run afoul of this principle of production and it has been a long and discouraging trail of progress. In fact the cotton farmer faces a situation today more serious than at any time in the history of his business.

What we may be able to do in this community in the way of restricting acreage will not affect the price of cotton, but what the farmers do over the entire cotton area will make an impression and the movement must be area wide and consistent over a period of years. It is the only way. At present the commercial outlook offers no appreciable increase in demand for cotton. To produce another big crop and add its surplus or carry over to the present surplus means but one thing and that is a collapse of the cotton growing industry. Already enfeebled by the consistent year in and year out policy of over production, the farmers must restrict their production or submit to failure and yield up their farms in despair. This is plain talk but the time has come for plain talking. Farm income has had but one source in the past. That source of income has been cotton. The result is that we raise more cotton than the world can consume and as long as the supply of any commodity is in excess of the demand prices will be low. Leadership has defaulted because it has advocated only artificial means of defeating over production. There is only one way to defeat overproduction and that way is not to produce.

We have heard the doctrine of gradual marketing preached; we have heard stabilization which is the same thing in another form; we have heard improved staple and classification; we have heard tales of industrial expansion offering a consumption of increased cotton production; we have heard the cotton buyers and the speculators abused for ruinous prices and we have heard the cry of low average acreage yield and out of that has grown a lot of advice about soil conservation and crop rotation and all of that and it is good so far as it goes. But one thing remains to control the price. That thing is the law of supply and demand. When cotton farmers produce eighteen million bales and sell ten million bales, the price is in no way increased for as long as this cotton is in sight it counts against the price. When there is plenty of cotton it is cheap; when

Martha Berry School Aided By Million From Henry Ford

Mount Berry, Ga., Feb. 23.—With the announcement by Henry Ford that he expects to give $100,000,000 to education, it became known that he really started this program five years ago in helping the Berry school here to the extent of $1,000,000. These schools, founded twenty-eight years ago by Miss Martha Berry, bring education to mountain boys and girls. Miss Berry is well known in Cameron and is a niece of the late Mrs. Idella Green. You will be a member of a brilliant assemblage. Just imagine seeing the charming widow in gorgeous bridal array, Benjamin Gump with one-hundred dollar bills stuck out all over him, handsome Tom Carr upon whom the widow at one time had designs, Mary Gold, Tom's demure sweetheart, Andy and Min Gump, who had hoped that their little Chester might be Uncle Ben's sole heir. There are three of these wells, owned by the Milam Oil & Gas Co., Inc., the product from which is sold to the Lone Star Gas Company, which has the franchise to supply Rosebud. It is stated that the contract between the two companies calls for a minimum price of ten cents.

The owning company is said to be now drilling two additional wells in the field. The original wells were drilled in the early part of 1928, and are approximately 1500 feet in depth producing from 500,000 to 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day per well, with a rock pressure of 560 pounds. These wells were drilled by J. C. and J. H. White on the W. B. White land, part of a block of 5000 or 6000 acres under lease.

It is estimated that Rosebud is now using between 500,000 and 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The gas was turned into the mains and service begun on February 12.—Rosebud News.

MRS. S. D. HANNA BURIED IN OAK HILL CEMETERY

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR NATIVE OF KENTUCKY HELD AT HOME OF DAUGHTER HERE

Funeral services for Mrs. S. D. Hanna were held from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Guy Slocumb, Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, with Rev. Joel Hardigree of the Christian church officiating. Mrs. Hanna died Saturday evening at seven o'clock.

She was born in Christian County, Kentucky, on March 24, 1855, and she and her family came to Texas in 1883, settling at Temple, where they lived until they moved to Cameron. Mrs. Hanna had been a consistent Christian since she was sixteen years of age.

Seven years ago she and her husband came here to make their home with their daughter, and Mr. Hanna died four years ago. Since that time his wife had spent most of her time here with occasional visits with relatives elsewhere. In paying tribute to her in his very beautiful talk Sunday afternoon, Rev. Hardigree said that she was a gracious giver to every worthy cause.

Immediate survivors are two children, Mrs. Guy Slocumb of Cameron and Henry Hanna of Dallas, both of whom were present at the service. Others from out of town who were here for the service were a sister, Mrs. J. Austin Strange of Waco, Mr. Strange, and Miss Mary Strange; a niece, Mrs. W. M. Hoover of Waco and Mr. Hoover; Vernon Slocumb of Ft. Worth; and Mrs. Ed Temple, Mrs. W. Q. Baker and Mrs. Randall of Temple.

Interment was in Oak Hill Cemetery, Coleman and Eplen directing arrangements. Pall bearers were as follows: J. D. Eplen, W. D. Favor, Raymond Beard, Roy Law, B. Slocumb and Jim Adams.

World Court Is Club Topic

Each member of the Cameron History Club was privileged to invite a guest to attend the regular meeting of the Club Tuesday afternoon of this week, at which time the Hon. W. G. Gillis delivered an address on the World Court of Justice. It was a most interesting occasion, and the address was educational and informative. Judge Gillis first gave a history of the formation of the World Court, and he concluded with a criticism of the United States for 'wanting to have her cake and eat it too,' in his opinion we are trying to receive the benefits of a member of the Court without definitely becoming a member, and thereby being ready for any good that may come of not being a member.

Following his address, Miss Mary Lake Henderson, who was in charge of the program for the afternoon, told of a session of the World Court which she attended during a recent trip abroad. A motion was made and seconded that the History Club send letters to our representative and to the Texas senators at Washington asking them to lend their support towards having the United States become a member of the World Court. The secretary was instructed to write these notes.

Mrs. Royal P. Jeter and Mrs. Ben Atkinson were joint hostesses for the afternoon and the meeting was held at the home of the latter. Numerous spring flowers lent charm to the reception rooms. A social hour was enjoyed after the program, the guests being invited to the dining room where they were served pineapple ice and cake. The dining room made a pretty picture with its Irish lace cover, its center piece of yellow daffodils in a crystal bowl, and its yellow tapers in crystal holders at the four corners. Misses Louise Atkinson and Artie Graves assisted in serving.

Warning Is Issued by Carl Williams, Member of the Federal Farm Loan Board

In a formal address by Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board, the following statements were made, which are of the greatest importance to the cotton growers and their friends throughout the entire South:

'Dixie farmers face the prospect in 1930 of no governmental aid of effective character unless immediate steps are taken to reduce the yield of cotton.'

'The United States cotton crop is gradually going down in quality while the foreign crop has been slowly increasing in quality,' he told the agriculturists.

'These are facts that the South must face, there is no argument, no necessary discussion, all the talk in the world won't change it,' the speaker emphatically declared. 'The farmer must move up a year in his calculations and think of his prospective prices, abandoning the old system of shaping a crop on the basis of last year's prices.'

'The acreage of cotton is now above the red line on the motor-meter. Last year 47,000,000 acres were planted in cotton; 46,000,000 acres were harvested. That's too much.'

'The red line is 40,000,000 acres. If the cotton belt goes above that there is a possibility of ruining the auto,' the Oklahoman declared.

'Had the yield of the acreage planted in 1929 been as good as that of 1914 the cotton belt would have produced 22,000,000 bales last year.'

'During the last three years

the yield per acre of cotton has been below a ten-year average. This has never been true four years in succession.'

'If the Federal Farm Board is going to be able to be of the greatest possible service to the cotton farmer, it must not have to deal with an unwieldy surplus.'

'It is easier to prevent than to control a surplus. What the board does this year will be governed largely by what the farmer does at planting time.'

Mr. Williams made what he described as 'two practical suggestions' to the South:

'1. That no banker finance for production credit, nor merchant credit, nor landlord permit, nor farmer dare to plant any cotton on any land until he has assured a food crop for his family and a feed crop for his stock.'

'2. That no cotton be planted on any land which on a five-year average has failed to return a net profit.'

'Fully one-third of the acreage planted this year has failed to return a net profit.'

'Some cotton farmers think that because the Federal Farm Board has been lending to co-operatives at an average of 16 cents a pound on middling 7-8 inch staple of the 1929 crop, the board means to see to it that the price will be at least that much for the crop of 1930.'

'This is not so. The Federal Farm Board can not protect farmers when they deliberately overplant. What the board will do to help in market next year's crop will depend upon what farmers do at planting time.'

Kentucky Lady Was Weak And Felt Miserable. Dizzy Spells Quit After She Took Cardui.

Danville, Ky.—"For a long time, I suffered with severe headaches and pains in my sides and back," says Mrs. Lottie Smallwood, residing at 116 Fourth Street, this city.

"I was very weak, and just not able to go about or do my work. I just felt miserable.

"I was all out of heart. I would have spells when my head would hum, and my feet and hands were clammy and cold.

"I would be so dizzy, I would fall. "I had read of Cardui and what it had done for others, and so I, too, began taking it. I had been aching and hurting awfully.

"After I took Cardui, I quit having the dizzy spells. I kept on taking Cardui, and saw then that I was being helped. I was not nearly so weak, and from that time I have felt better. I took six bottles in all."

Cardui is a purely vegetable remedy and contains nothing harmful or injurious. It may be safely taken by a delicate young girl as well as by a feeble old lady.

Cardui has been in use by women for over 50 years, and great numbers of women have reported that it helped them back to health.

there is a shortage it is high. That cannot be denied. Now the thing for the farmers to do is to restrict their acreage and to produce less cotton. Plant more feed. Put the old farm in other lines of business, raise meat supplies, chickens, have cows and something to eat. Cotton cannot be used for food nor will it buy food sufficient because it is not worth anything.

The average producer of cotton does not keep in touch with the price as he should. Middling cotton today is selling below fourteen and a half cents. That means perhaps the average price would be around twelve. Low grade or stained cotton here this week sold for 10 cents. If the farmers produce another big crop in 1930 the price will be below 10 cents or thereabout basis, unless some miracle should come in the complex economic structure of the world to make an abnormal demand, but we are not looking for another war or so rapid an expansion of cotton consuming industries. The thing to do is reduce the acreage and raise less of it and do that consistently over a period of years then keep on doing it. This movement is wide spread over the area. Milam county farmers will join in. They will raise more feed stuff and have more live stock, poultry, and butter and milk. That is the only way out. Let's try it for a few years. It can't be worse and it is sure to help some. Whenever we produce cotton short of or even approximately the ratio of demand we will be a prosperous and a happy people.

SYMPHONY CLUB HEARS TALK ON BEETHOVEN OPERA

Members of the Cameron Symphony Club met with their president, Mrs. Wilson Gunn, in regular session Wednesday afternoon. Miss Beth Jeter was leader of a program concerning the opera 'Fidelio' by Beethoven. Miss Glenn Stafford gave a sketch of the life of Beethoven and Mrs. R. P. Jeter told the story of the opera. Musical selections consisted of a violin solo, the Adagio movement from the Moonlight Sonata by Beethoven played by Mrs. C. W. Bradbury and accompanied by Miss Helen Flinn—a vocal duet, 'Sleepy Hollow Tune,' by Kountz by Mrs. Wilson Gunn and Miss Bess DuBois; and a piano solo, an Overture from the opera 'Fidelio' by Mrs. Jeter.

During the business session preceding the program, a report was heard from the committee on arranging for an observance of National Music Week in May. Mrs. A. Strickland, chairman of the committee, and her assistants, Misses Rose Rischer and Gail Arnett, recommend that the club sponsor two concerts for this week, the dates and nature of which are to be announced later, and that they also cooperate with other organizations of the city in a fitting observance of this occasion.

Yoemen Play First Game Of Baseball

Tuesday afternoon the Yoemen played a practice game with Maysfield. Maysfield's team was not a high school team, however the Yoemen put up a determined fight, but came out in the little end of an 8 and 7 score. It was the Yoemen's first game this season and a number of spots were discovered that will need smoothing out.

'Bubba' McDermott got the first hit of the season for the Yoemen, a screaming double to left field in the second inning. He later scored on Lawson's single through second. Doug Williams, lead-off man, scored the first Yoemen run after he had drawn a walk in the first inning.

Lawson and Worcester did the pitching for the Yoemen. Both lacked control at times but each one got several strike outs to his credit.

For the visitors Archie Peel, a cousin of Homer Peel, was the outstanding player. Besides turning in a creditable game on the mound, he got a triple and three singles in five trips to the plate. He would have gotten a double in his last time up but for the great catch made by Texas Miller in center field, who turned a long hit into an out.

In the last inning of Tuesday's game the first four men up scored with only one hit being made. Bases on balls, errors and Prothro Deer's single accounting for the scores.

Captain Smith, an unusually good fielder, had hard luck yesterday, making two errors in left field. That is not his regular style however, and we are sure that he will not let that happen again.

'Steam' Wiley's hand has healed so that he was able to catch in Tuesday's game.

Girlhood

The trying time in a young girl's life is reached when Nature leads her uncertain steps across the line which divides girlhood and womanhood.

Neglect at this critical period is largely responsible for much of the misery of women. Often there is need of some safe, strengthening tonic to overcome the languor, nervousness and distress girls commonly experience at this time. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite and helps the entire womanly organism. It is purely herbal—contains no narcotic, nor any harmful ingredient. Druggists, Tablets or liquid. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c if you desire a trial pkg. of tablets.

DROVE POISON OUT

Constipation Troubled Alabama Lady Until She Had Taken Black-Draught, Then Felt Fine.

Florence, Ala.—"For two years, I suffered with pains in my back and head," writes Mrs. J. E. Sloan, 810 Park Street, this city.

"I felt dull all the time, and was not able to do anything. I was constipated most of the time. My complexion was bad and I had no appetite."

"An old lady advised my father to give me Black-Draught. As quick as she told him, he got it for me. I took Black-Draught three times a day for three weeks, and I began to feel like a different person. I developed a good appetite; the poison left my system, and I felt fine."

"I thought my trouble came from constipation, and as soon as the cause was removed, I got all right."

"Since that time, I have tried to keep a box of Black-Draught in the house, as I find it corrects biliousness and relieves sick headache. It is our family medicine."

Constipation damps up poisons in the bowels, causing their bad effects to be felt in other parts of the body.

At the first sign of constipation, take Theodor's Black-Draught. Costs only 1 cent a dose. NC-215

Editor Manly of the Cotulla Record tells visitors, 'Be sure to see our school buildings while here.' The Manlys are proud of their school buildings and schools and have a right to be. One has to travel far to find better buildings and more evidence of interest in education, even in the cities, than are seen at Cotulla.

Texas And Texans

By Will E. Mayes

Assets or Liabilities

One doesn't have to be a close observer, if he travels over Texas a bit, to discover that every town's best asset is good all-weather roads leading in every direction—not merely out a few miles into impassable mud tracks but good roads through to the next good town. Travellers and home seekers invariably think and speak of a place, and in no uncertain way, in terms of its roads. People who are worth having as citizens seldom locate in a community with poor roads. Those who live there were there before life depended so much on road conditions, and they stay largely because they are 'stuck' and can't get away, or else in the hope that in the course of time they may have better roads.

Want Good Hotels

A town or its surrounding community may be ever so good, but it is hard to overcome the impression a poor room in a poor hotel makes on a traveler. A hotel a quarter of a century behind the times creates the impression that the place is just that much behind, and few people seeking a new location care to establish homes among neighbors content to live among conditions that were satisfactory twenty-five years ago. Modern folks with modern ideas do not care to return to the 'good old days,' good enough, perhaps for old folks to dream about, but not good enough for younger people to live in, even for an overnight stay in a hotel.

Quarantine The Grouchers

Every town has a few grouchers—fellows who see no good in anything or anybody, who are not progressive themselves, who oppose all progress and who meet every suggestion for improvement with 'Well, we've always done' so and so. They are content with staying in a rut just because it is a fixed habit. It is a pity they can't be quarantined, like people with smallpox. At any rate, they shouldn't be allowed to meet strangers. One grouch can offset all the 'Welcome' sign that can surround a town.

Talking Prosperity

The other day a newspaper man said, 'Times are getting hard, and expenses must be kept down.' When asked how his business was in 1929, he said, 'Much better than the year before.' He even admitted that his January business was the best he had ever had in that month, but based his hard times talk on the idea that the Wall Street collapse of last year was 'bound to reach Texas in time,' though it hadn't been felt yet in this State. There are a few folks who haven't recovered from the World-War fright. Talking 'hard times' persistently will create business panics. The newspaper man who isn't progressive can hardly expect progressiveness on the part of his patrons. Times are good. We only need to bring our vision up-to-date. Talk prosperity if you would be prosperous.

Where They Talk It

While there are many sections in Texas from which one never hears a hard-times wail, it is difficult to find anywhere a more up-and-going district than the lower Colorado river valley section around Eagle Lake, El Campo, Wharton and Bay City, where there has been wonderful development in the last few years. The thrifty cities tell plainly of the prosperity of the country and the country shows the substantial background upon which the cities are building. They have not gone forward without a struggle, but the combination of irrigation, drainage, good roads and progressive citizenry has accomplished wonders and will bring still greater achievements.

Rice and Potatoes

The rice crop of the lower Colorado valley was good last season and was sold at a satisfactory price. Other crops did well, and agriculture there is not dependent on cotton. Around Eagle Lake 3000 acres have been planted to early Irish potatoes and about an equal number about Bay City, El Campo and Wharton. All indications are that early potatoes will bring good prices and that the growers will prosper.

Fire Sale

W. B. LEVY

Sale Starts Friday, February 28

Fire on January 23 damaged goods in our store and we are passing these bargains on to our friends and customers. It is unfortunate that in cases of fire actual damage to goods is not always sufficient to justify the sacrifices merchants have to make in disposing of merchandise affected by fire and water. A Fire Sale therefore is always the greatest bargain event of the year. We have a considerable quantity of goods, principally in ready-to-wear merchandise damaged in the fire at our store on the above date. We are sacrificing them in order to dispose of them and now is your opportunity to buy these goods. While we are pricing these damaged goods in this Fire Sale we are taking this opportunity to offer other and additional bargains. This sale is to be an event in value giving for which this store is famous, so come at once. Be here on Friday morning, February 28 when we open the doors to this great feast of bargains.

TO THE PEOPLE

In this circular the space is so limited that I cannot detail every item in this store. There are literally hundreds of savings here. You know my policy has always been to make my sales store wide and to price my goods at prices that speak for themselves. This is not a sale like many you see. This sale is on the level and my reasons are good and sufficient. I need the ready cash and I must reduce some lines of goods. The new things for Spring are included in this sale. Many new Dresses, Coats, Hats, Shoes and the like have just come in to my store. I would not give a sale without including everything, for when you come into this store you can buy as you please. This is my greatest sale. The prices and the goods prove it.

were read by the secretary and the treasurer reported a sum of $8.50 in the treasury. The money is to be used for a stove the girl are planning to buy. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Bartholomew who gave us an interesting talk. She gave the girls their assignments in their projects. She also gave us our record books. Eleven of the girls are taking gardening for their projects and one is taking poultry.

The girls were scored by their inventory guides which includes personal appearance, 20 points; character and personal charm, 25 points; culture and refinement, 15 points; health 25 points; clothing 15 points. The total average was 46 6-11, so we have a great deal of room for improvement. Miss Bartholomew helped the girls cut their garments and gave them instructions for finishing them. The next meeting will be on March 7, at 10:30 o'clock at the school house.

CRUEL NEURITIS FINDS ITS FOE IN NEW KONJOLA

HAPPY LADY ENTHUSIASTIC IN PRAISE OF FAMED NEW MEDICINE

'No words can describe what this great medicine, Konjola, has done for me,' said Mrs. Harry A. Unrath, 914 Lark Avenue, St. Louis. 'Five bottles of this marvelous remedy put an end to a case of neuritis that I had despaired of ever shaking off. The pain settled in my forearm and fingers and for days at a time I was helpless from the frightful agony and could not move my hands. My kidneys were weak and added to my intolerable misery.

'The first bottle of Konjola indicated what could be expected. I continued the treatment for five weeks and my health troubles were at an end. Every vestige of pain had left my arms and fingers, there is no swelling and no stiffness in either. My kidneys responded weeks before and no back pains or dizziness occur. It is difficult, even now, to realize that one medicine could do all that Konjola did for me.'

Konjola is sold in Cameron at the George A. Thomas & Sons Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Big Firms Like To Employ Teachers

'Over a period of several years we have found that teachers who enter business achieve success well above the average,' stated W. M. Roberts, President of Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration. Few men in the Southwest are in as good a position to observe matters of this kind as Mr. Roberts, who places hundreds of graduates of the famous Tyler institution in business positions each year.

'Because of their splendid literary qualifications, teachers do excellent work at this school. They make very satisfactory passing grades and finish their courses, as a general rule, quicker than the average student. They know the value of their time, they know what it means to apply their time to their studies and as a result they are excellent students. We are consequently able to recommend them more highly, both because of their good work here and because of the superior training they have had before they enroll at Tyler Commercial College.'

'We are not only able to place them in business positions promptly, but they command better positions and are usually a great credit to our school.'

The profession of teaching is one of the highest professions in the world from the standpoint of service to humanity. It is unfortunately, however, an occupation of many draw backs, and there are teachers all over the Southwest today who can and should improve their own conditions materially. To them the business world offers a broad and rich field. For them there is no road to bigger success than one of the thirty-nine different courses offered by Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration.

T. C. C. publishes a booklet entitled 'Achieving Success in Business,' the pages of which are crowded with inspiration and practical information. It tells many stories of success and describes fully the courses offered by this big college. The book is free and will be gladly sent to any chool teacher, or anyone else who is seeking a broader career. Just clip the coupon below and mail it today.

MRS ROY LAW HOSTESS TO 42 CLUB THURSDAY

Mrs. Roy Law emphasized the patriotic motif when she entertained members of the 42 Club at her home last Thursday afternoon. Table covers were in red, white and blue, tallies bore a cherry design, and score pads were especially designed with patriotic insignias.

Following the games, the hostess covered the tables with white tarlatan runners and served a chicken salad course with eclairs, a George Washington salad, in which were stuck tiny hatchets as plate favors and iced punch. Table favors were boxes of chocolate covered cherries.

A Ferocious Dog

When the Myers lived by the Jacks their dog was the terror of left-handed batters, or of slow-hitting right-handed hitters. There was a great deal of baseball playing in Jackson's yard and one of the humorous instances I particularly remember is as follows:

'Dubb' Shipp hit the ball into the Myer's yard and made a home run on it. According to our rule 'Dubb' had to go into the yard and get the ball. He slowly climbed the fence and tipped softly toward the ball. The dog was under the house and 'Dubb' thought maybe he could get out before the dog was any wiser. As he picked the ball up a white streak shot out from under the house. 'Dubb' beat it for the fence which was about five feet high. He caught the top of the fence, turned a flip above it, and landed safely.

Roy Baskin.

An Adventure In The Dark

One day in dreary December, Dick, Jack and I having heard of a certain house being haunted set out for an adventure. With a few supplies we started out expecting to stay all night. It was late evening when we reached the place; and clouds were gathering in the sky.

We went up on the porch and just then we heard a rustling inside. We picked up our supplies that we had dropped, and paraded in the front door single-file, so if the ghost got one of us the other two would get him. We could see spooks floating about everywhere.

Having lighted a few of the candles which we had brought we built a fire and cooked our supper. After supper while we were sitting around the fire, a door blew open and our lights went out.

I raised up and said, 'Dick, go and close that door.'

'Why don't you?' was the reply. Then I said, 'We had better get out while the getting is good.'

Clayton Sapp.

Trusting A Stranger

An old man who carried a suit case entered a garage late one evening. He seemed down and out as he approached the mechanic. He said he was trying to get to a certain section of the country where there was a building boom. He was broke but he could bum his way along; he did not have money to buy food. The mechanic felt sorry for the old man, so he gave him five dollars. He never expected to see his money again.

A few weeks later the mechanic received a letter from out of the state. In the letter was five dollars and a note from the old man thanking him for the money.

Addie Mae Lunsford.

An Adventure In The Dark

I lived in the country and was going into town to see the picture show. I lived about five miles out and when about half of the way to town I had to detour because of the recent rains.

As I was going down the muddy road it started to drizzle. First it came slowly and then harder the rain came. Finally I knew that I would have to find shelter. Just then thru the rain I saw a house on a knoll. I started toward it. There was no light in the house and I could hardly see. Then I started to think of ghosts and phantoms and things. I was on a little bay pony so I just opened the door and rode in. It was just a one-room cabin. In the far end I heard something scuttling around. I got off my pony and lit a match. I could see nothing so I started to the fire place to make a fire. As I was bending over I heard a rush of feet behind me. I tried to get up but was not fast enough. Then something hit me and knocked me into the ashes of the fire place. I got up and started toward the window when something went baa, baa. It was a goat.

Giles Avriett.

Lost

This is a true story about myself in the mountains and hills around Fredericksburg, Texas. I went deer hunting with my father and some of his friends. Three days of our camping we killed not one deer.

On the third day in the afternoon I decided to go hunting by myself. I was told by the owner of the ranch that a few miles north I would come to a fence, there I would find the most deer.

I went towards this fence. I walked about thirty minutes and I had not come to this fence. I was very tired so I decided to go back to camp. It was getting dark and the way was long and I had lost my way. I was all turned around. It was lucky that I had my horn, which I blew very loud. I listened and I heard a faint answer. Oh, I was glad. I started toward the sound and after a long walk reached camp. All of them, especially my dad were glad to see me.

Frank M. Newton.

Miss Wiley—'Now we find that X is equal to Z.'

Giles—'Gee, all that work for nothing.'

Miss Blanche—'What makes you late this morning?'

Wilder—'You see there are eight in our family and the alarm was set for only seven.'

Carrol—'When I lance with you I feel as though I were treading on clouds.'

Patsy—'Don't kid yourself, those are my feet.'

Dell—'Just look, half of these flower seed that we planted are sitting on top.'

Clyde—'Dick, how did you break your arm?'

Dick—'Oh, I fell off my tricycle.'

Howard Terry has a badly sprained ankle; Dick Batte has a broken arm; and Wilson Mode has a sore arm. Very soon the seventh grade will be a hospital.

We are planning to have a hay ride Friday night if the weather stays pretty. We hope it doesn't rain.

WORLD PRAYER DAY BY FEDERATION OF MISSIONARY SOCIETIES HERE MARCH 7

The World's Day of Prayer is to be observed by the Federation of Missionary Societies of Cameron at the Baptist church Friday afternoon, March 7, at three-thirty o'clock. This observance is being held in commemoration of the first Pentecost and will be devoted to asking for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit today even as there was on that other occasion.

The program for the Week of Prayer that was to have been held by the ladies of the Baptist church on this same afternoon has been cancelled in order that they might join in the larger observance.

SPRINGTIME MOTIF FOR MONDAY NIGHT BRIDGE WITH MRS. C. NABOURS

A springtime motif was used by Mrs. Charlie Nabours when she entertained members of the Monday Night Bridge Club at her home this week. Peach and plum blossoms and violets, both tame and wild, furnished house decorations and tallies and score pads were in pastel colors having a central butterfly design.

Miss Dulcie McCall made high score, and Mrs. Penn Wolf was second high. Mrs. W. R. Hoover was low.

Following the games, the hostess served pink and green brick cream and cake squares iced in white and decorated with pink and green sponge. The green trays used for the service were centered with novelty table holders which went as table favors to Mrs. Conn Moody, Mrs. W. D. Bigbee and Miss Dulcie McCall. Mrs. W. R. Hoover was the only guest outside the club membership.

News Of Seventh Grade

'Sella' by William Cullen Bryant was the poem we studied last week. We all enjoyed it very much. Descriptions of Sella, The Brook, and Her Home were written after studying the poem.

Sella's Home

Sella's home was situated by a running brook. From one of its windows, Sella could gaze upon the brook and its banks. Around the house there were broad pastures with herds and flocks in them. It was a rustic lodge overlooking the plains around.

The house itself had a very wide porch and around it were orchards of lovely fruits. It was said, 'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a brook scudding along a narrow channel,' and 'Then Sella hung the slippers on the porch of that broad, rustic lodge.'

Sella's family was not rich so their home was made of logs. They had few furnishings, just some couches on which to sleep, lattices instead of curtains and some canisters in which to put flowers. 'And then again I clambered up the violets' murmuring path, until we came beside this cottage door.'

Giles Avriett.

The Brook

'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a brook. This was a beautiful brooklet, paved with green and yellow pebbles and scudding along a narrow channel, with waters colorless and cool and the best water to drink in the world. The water made a rustle and eternal murmur and 'she gathered violets from its moist bank.' Sella loved this 'woodland streamlet' and she loved 'to wander where wild vines o'erhang the river's brim; to climb the path of the woodland streamlet to its mountain springs.'

William Slaughter.

The Streamlet

Beside a pleasant dwelling near Sella's home there was a brook. It was flowing along in a narrow channel. It was paved with yellow and green pebbles, yet its waters were colorless and cool.

'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a brook Scudding along a narrow channel, paved With green and yellow pebbles, yet full Clear its waters were, and colorless and cool.'

As it flowed along it made a sweet, eternal murmur that Sella loved so much to hear. 'A maiden oft stood at the window Leaning out, and listening to the Sound the water made. A sweet eternal murmur, still the same and not the same.'

It's shores were fresh and moist and on them there grew flowers and herbs of all kind, especially violets and Sella would wonder along her shores picking them. Sometimes Sella would come down to the brook and sit in the shade of a great rock and listen to its sweet song for hours and hours.

'She gathered violets from its fresh Moist bank, to pace within her bower And when the herbs of summer drooped Beneath the mid-day sun, she sat within

The shade of a great rock, dreamily listening To the streamlets song.'

Dallas Criswell.

Sella's Home

Her house was a pleasant dwelling. 'Beside a pleasant dwelling ran a beautiful little brook.' Sella was often seen to gaze out the open window of her home at the broad pastures grazed by flocks and herds and the lofty hills. After she found the slippers, 'Then Sella hung the slippers in the porch of that broad rustic lodge.' When Sella lost her slippers she mourned by the lattice windows of her mountain home, looking out from the cottage on the surrounding scene.

Roy Baskin.

Sella

A fair young lady sat in the shade of a great rock listening to the song of a small streamlet. Her calm, clear blue eyes sparkled with venturesome spirit and her long yellow hair waved in the wind.

'Ripe were the maiden's years, her stature showed womanly beauty, and her clear, calm eye was bright with venturesome spirit.'

Her face looked very pale and there was no color in her lips. 'Yet her face her passionless, like those by sculptor graven.'

She cared nothing for love, she had rather wander in the woods or row her boat.

'Often did the banks of river or sylvan lakelet hear the dip of oars which the maiden rowed.'

Sella had a tender heart, but a very high temper. In her later life she taught the world many useful things.

Dallas Criswell.

Friday, Feb. 14 the seventh grade enjoyed a Valentine party in the home room. Games were played and apples and candy were eaten. Original Valentines were written and the winners were Giles, Ralph and Dick Clyde and Eldridge were blindfolded and told to waltz. 'Lightning' in his graceful manner waltzed around the room. Eldridge had to smile at each person and he did.

We have planted nasturtiums, poppies, old maids and pansies.

The boys and girls have started playing ball and each day interesting games are played.

Declamation tryouts will be soon and we are planning to win. So we are planning to win in the spelling and arithmetic contests.

Our attendance is better now and we hope to keep it so.

Howard Terry is ill today. He sprained his ankle and can not walk. We miss him.

The Rhodora

The Rhodora grows in the woods in a damp place, or in wet nook. It grows in the month of May. The peculiar thing about the Rhodora is that the flower blossoms before the leaves appear. The color of the Rhodora is a beautiful purple.

Ralph Koepf.

Joseph Miller was absent Monday.

Wilder combs his hair every morning.

Caralyn was absent last week. She is back with us today.

Roy doesn't like to argue anymore.

Tom tore his shirt last Thursday and had to wear his sweater all the rest of the day.

The poem 'Rhodora' was read, then we wrote descriptions of the flower.

The Rhodora

The Rhodora is a flower of May. In damp places or along sluggish brooks this flower is found. Also along pools it is found with its petals on the water. The Rhodora is a purple flower with long purple petals. No leaves has this flower. It is a flower of about the same rank as the rose, but it is not as well known.

Jerome Dusek.

Cupid Claims Two Noted Athletes And Both Local Boys

College Station, Feb. 22.—Don B. Slocumb Jr., fleet Texas Aggie track man, and winner of the Southwest low hurdle championship in the conference meet last year, stole a march on his teammates and friends when he and Miss Lois A. Barber of Fentress, were married at New Braunfels February 1. The wedding was kept secret until just a few days ago when Slocumb broke the news to his teammates. Frank Mondrik, captain and hurdler of the Texas Longhorns, also of Cameron and a former teammate of Slocumb at Yoe high school of Cameron, is also married. Slocumb, Mondrik and Herman Harlan, another Yoe high school product, now at A & M., are expected to be the leading contenders for the titles in both low and high hurdles in the conference meet at Kyle field this year.

Last season Slocumb won the low hurdles and Harlan the high with Mondrik placing in both.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT NEAR FATAL TO MAN AND WIFE ON MONDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Auburn Casey were severely wounded Monday afternoon from an accidental discharge of a .38 calibre pistol falling from the scabbard as Mr. Casey sought to place it in his car.

The bullet passed through the right leg of Mr. Casey and entered the right side of Mrs. Casey's face, lodging near the brain, tearing away two of her teeth. The bullet was removed at the Cameron Hospital. Dr. Elbra Monroe was summoned quickly to the scene of the accident and both Mr. and Mrs. Casey were rushed to the hospital. Mr. Casey is in the hospital while Mrs. Casey is at home. Both are expected to recover within a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey reside in Beaumont and were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Casey preparing to leave. The gun was held by Mr. Casey and while placing a suit case in the rear of the car the gun slipped from the scabbard and struck the car pumper and was discharged.

FARMERS SIGN FOR CUT COTTON ACREAGE

PERCENTAGES RANGE FROM 15 TO 20 PER CENT AMONG LARGE PLANTERS

A movement to reduce cotton acreage in Milam County has taken definite form with the circulation of a petition here signed by large planters and smaller farmers. The agreed reduction ranges from 15 to 20 per cent. The petition follows:

We, the undersigned farmers, living in Cameron Trade Territory, pledge ourselves to reduce the acreage we are to plant in cotton for the year 1930 as compared with our 1929 acreage, in the amounts placed opposite our names, in conformity with the request of the Federal Farm Board and of many other civic and business organizations. We believe that by so doing we can contribute to a practical check on overproduction and thus hold the price at a living level.

Signed,

R. L. Batte, T. S. Henderson, Geo.

Luncheon Served For History Club Members Here

The annual luncheon for members of the Cameron History Club was an event of Saturday, with Mrs. Tom Denson offering her home for the affair. The fact that the day was February 22 made the patriotic decorations all the more significant. The large dining table, at which places were laid for sixteen, was covered with red, white and blue squares of crepe paper, and there were dotted here and there with Gorge Washington emblems. A cherry tree rested on a reflector in the center of the table and on each side of it were hatchets stuck in George Washington nut cups.

The menu consisted of grape fruit cocktail topped with a red cherry, baked country ham, stuffed Irish potato, candied apple, pickle, rolled sandwiches tied with tri-color ribbon, asparagus and tomato salad, hot rolls, coffee, and individual cherry pies topped with whipped cream. Serving on the refreshment committee were Mrs. T. S. Henderson, chairman, Mrs. Joe Denson and Mrs. E. A. Wallace.

During the course of the luncheon games and contests were enjoyed by

METHODIST CHURCH

At the evening service next Sunday (7:30) the subject of the sermon will be: 'How God Shows His Love.' We invite those who are disposed to be cynic, those who doubt that the great First Cause is primarily and essentially a God of Love, as well as those who are trying to learn the lesson that God is love in spite and in the face of losses and disappointments and sufferings. We invite all who will to come and worship with us next Sunday.

Our Sunday school begins promptly at 9:45 a. m., the morning service at 11 a. m., and the Epworth League at 6:30 p. m. Splendid music led by Mrs. A. J. Triggs, choir leader, Mrs. J. L. Clinton, at the organ and a choir which always pleases the lovers of good music. Let the people who live in the country and who have no church home in their community come and worship with us. Yes, let the people of Milam county 'form the habit' of going to church regularly and thus set a good example for our youth. Righteousness exalts a nation; where else do our people learn the great principles of righteousness unless they are announced from time to time from the pulpits of the land? The Soviets of Russia are trying the terrible experiment of closing the churches and persecuting the Jews and Christians; they will learn in due time that God can not be mocked and that they are 'hatching adder's eggs, —he that eats of their eggs dies and that which is crushed breaks out into a viper.' Isaiah 59, 5.)

Let our people go to church and Sunday school.

C. A. LEHMBERG, Pastor.

der the direction of Mrs. Jeff Kemp, Mrs. R. P. Jeter and Misses Mary Lake and Winnie Henderson, who were on the entertainment committee.

In the living room of the Denson home a variety of early flowers including hyacinths, cyclamen, primroses, narcissus, japonica and jonquils gave accent to the spring weather.

Dr. Kenney's topic at the Friday night services will be 'Judaism's Contribution to Religion,' in which he will discuss the offering up of Isaac by Abraham which marked the end of the idea of personal sacrifices.

A large number of members of the Congregational church will attend the services. Approximately one-half of the audience at the Congregational church services addressed by Dr. Goodman were members of Temple B'Nai Israel.

Baptist Sunday School Makes Merry With Tacky Party Program

Responding to invitations received by mail, members of the Homemakers Class of the Baptist Sunday school officers of the Sunday school who are eligible for membership in the class and a few prospective members gathered at the church annex Friday evening in 'tacky' costume for a few hours of fun. The guests were entertained first with a short program of readings given by Mrs. Dan Gunn, Martha Frances Brogdon and Johnnie Mae Hays.

The feature entertainment was a spelling match, in which the guests assumed the roles of backwoods children at school, with Mrs. Wilson Gunn, possessor of a third grade certificate, as the teacher. The customary program was given on 'Friday afternoon' for the trustees of the school who were Messrs. L. C. Gayle, John Hays and Joe Bass, and they voted on the prettiest child in the room. This distinction went to Mrs. J. C. Mayfield with the teacher, Mrs. Wilson Gunn, getting second place.

A candy snatching contest and one in which February 22 was the inspiring motif were other diversions. Guests were served a salad course and hot tea. Mrs. Wm. Henderson is teacher of the Homemakers class and Mrs. John Hays is president.
